The opening was very sk and prices ranged from $\frac{1}{2}$ to 114c. ser, and the closing was $\frac{1}{2}$ to higher to May in the closing figures on Saturday. Trade in cora was light and the feeling was nervous and unsettled. The feeling was casy and was derived wheat, prices ruling $\frac{1}{2}$ field. lower, but during the latter part of the session prices advanced 1,2%c. above the final figures of Saturday, the market closing at this gain well sustained.

Onto-There was a good general trade. The opening was weak and the close strong, with prices 1,2%c. higher than Satursiay's final figures. Offerings early were quickly absorbed.

Provisions opened just about steady, but cased off very soon, in sympathy with the weakness in wheat. In the absence of any support and a few stop orders coming on the market, prices declined moderately. A little later, on some buying, a steady feeling was developed. A fair shipping demand was noted both on domestic and continental account. January pork and ribs closed unchanged, while January lard was 5c. lower.

The market opened this week on Tuesday with 720 hogsheads offered, which did not realize expectation of sellers. On Wednesday 664 hogsheads were up, which pleased some warehousemen better than others. Thursday's sales met with more animation than any day this week, although 141 hogsheads were rejected out of 568 offered, which again led to small offerings yesterday of only 226 hogsheads, with sales somewhat irregular, our some sellers better satisfied.

IN "DELMONICO'S AT SIX,"

Marie Jansen Delighted a Fashionable Audience at the Theatre Last Evening-

Charming Marie Jansen, in a comedy as sparkling as Cliquot, saluted by the adulation of New York's gilded youth and the plaudits of the Casino's habitue's, shakes the dust of Gotham from her feet; forswears for a time the delights of Broadway with its petit soupers and its pops of corks; crosses the ferry, and becomes a star. She comes to us scintillating. Her orbit is well defined, for Glen McDonough has elevative conceived it, and McDonough has eleverly conceived it, and thus she goes whizzing through space, a delight to those whose study of astronomy is mainly through the opera-glasses.

Last evening she twinkled at the Richmond Theatre, paying us a visit from the Lyceum of Baltimore, and was accorded what must have been a very gratifying reception from the most fashionable of this season's audiences. She glistened in "Delmonico's at Six," a work by Glen McDonough who has given theatre-goers so much genuine enjoyment in "The Pro-digal F ther." His new comedy is written on even more severe comedy lines than the one seen here last winter, masmuch as there is in Miss Jansen's production no attempt at horse-play. It is, on the contrary, "straight" as a "string," and has a plot that is ever bubbling up with some new and amusing compileation. The story cannot be told in a few words, but an idea is about as follows: A doctor wishes to make his wife jealous; buys a picture of some actress; she reads of an alleged engagement with the actress at Delmonico's. Her step-daughter believes fiance to have an engagement with same actress; all of them arrive at he restaurant; become involved in com plications, and the whole story is un-ravelled in the third act. Besides these ravelled in the third act. Besides these people there are ardent admirers of the actress, a detective from the central office, a discreet French lady's maid, and a walter at Delmonico's, who palms himself off as a count.

As the actress, Trixie Hazelmere, the queen of the vaudevilles, Miss Jansen, has a role well suited for the display of her executional taleats.

exceptional talents. With the sang froid of the woman of the world, she is the same delightful creature that has so often lent brightness to the casino's stage, and the same pretty woman that has received the unstinted praise of a metropolitan press. There in the second act, after having popped one bottle too much, perhaps, she does a superb bit of acting. She and the innocent husband, and that old sweet mel-ody, "Ohe! Mamma!" was never rang better in Richmond. She is chic and bright, but there's no more suggestiveness than there is in a corner seat at ment do the audience see her en litho graph. Then it is the climax of second act, and you are not startled. Many moments before it has been hinted that you are to see the queen of the vaudevilles as she appears behind the

Mr. Frank Tannehill, Jr., does a splendid bit of work in the second act as the nervous, suspicious husband, and Mr. Ignacio Martinetti as the count and waiter was excellent. In the third act, to escape detection, he dons one of the gives of a skirt dancer is very cleverly and amusingly done. The part could be overdone so easily, and he escapes that misfortune so well.

Then again in the third act Mr. William Norris and Miss Hope Ross have such a delightful bit of comedy when he returns the presents she has given during their engagement. They do their roles full justice; Miss Ross so daintily and Mr. Norris artistically.

Mr. Charles Mason as Montague Mac Pounders, the modern Samson, is good, and Mr. Fred. Peters as the detective, Miss May Merrick as the physician's wife and Miss Bessie Lackey as the pearl of parlor maids, came in for a full share of a delighted public's approbation.

As a whole, seldom is it that a more excellent company visit us, and they will be greeted by another fashionable house this evening.

The Thirteen Club,

The Thirteen Club held a meeting Saturday evening, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing term; E. W. Wright, chief thirteen; L. M. Wright, vice-thirteen; J. B. Metzger, secretary; J. W. Rasberry, treasurer; L. L. Wright, watch, and D. S. Hardy, marshal.

The lady friends of the members will be entertained at their nicely-furnished club rooms this evening.

C., Oct. 16.-The Committee appointed by the business men of Ashville at their meeting about two weeks ago to specially investigate the financial standing and reliability of the Limited Industrial Company who had made propositions to the city alderman looking to the establishment of mammoth knitting factories above the site of the city water works, on the Swannanon river, have made public the result of their city water works, on the Swannanon river, have made public the result of their efforts. They have received letters highly favorable and complimentary to the members of the Limited Industrial Company from such men as August Belmont, banker, New York: John A. of Williamsport, Pa.

It will be remembered that the propositions submitted through Mr. Maxwell included the construction and ultimate operation of enough mills to employ five or six thousand operatives.

Now that the company has been weighed and not found wanting, it is probable that some decisive action will be taken by the board of aldermen without delay. What their action will be it is impossible to predict, but it is absolutely certain if they propose to reflect the wishes of the business men of this community they must manifest a willies. munity, they must manifest a willing-ness to make any reasonable sacrifice in order to induce this company to locate its plant here.

I think it probable that favorable action will be taken sooner or later, and that Ashville will ultimately get this stupend-

It is only just to say that this confidence in future success is really entertained in government circles, although every week brings an increase of power to the Agrarians. Clericals and Hadicals, who form the opposition. The associations of tobacco manufacturers, wine growers and wine merchants are holding meeting after meeting to protest against the impending meeting to protest against the impending taxes, and are subscribing funds to sus-tain the popular ferment against the government. Conservative organizations like Kreuzzeitung, proclaim the fall of Chan-Kreuzzeiturg, proclaim the fall of Chancelor Von Caprivi to be inevitable, while the National Liberal dailies admit that the fate of the taxation bills is doubtful. The strength of the government ultimately will rest only on the impossibility of the opposition's agreeing on any financial policy whatever. The army bill having become law, the deputies must find the supplies, and it is difficult to say where the revenue can be found, unless at the sources suggested in Dr. Miquel's scheme.

No alternative plan has been even hinted.

No alternative plan has been even hinted, and it will baffle the opposition leaders to conceive anything equally discriminating at popularly effective. The chances, therefore, are that after a protracted struggle, with minor concessions here and there, the government will carry the financial measures substantially unaltered.

As the Germans here are directly interested in the ascendency of the German party in Austria, Count Taaff's electoral reform bill absorbs public attention to the partial exclusion of home politics. Not a voice has been raised in Prussia for the measure, except among the Socialists. Taaff has never been a trustworthy friend of the Austro-German allance, and has been distrusted by both Bismarck and Caprivi. His suffrage bill is regarded as aiming a fatal blow at German influence in Austria. Its in it is said to be the subjection of German population to Slav masses. The bill has not a chance of coming to a final vote during the present ses-sion of the Reichsrath. Meanwhile, the German Liberal deputies in Vienna can force an early dissolution by coalescing with the existing opposition-for instance, the young Czechs-or can take prepare a measure extending the franchise on lines safeguarding the German party against loss of nower. UNLOADING HER TRAMPS.

AUSTIN, TEX., Oct. 16,-Colorado is unloading her thousands of unemployed workingmen on Texas. They are coming daily in squads of fifties and hundreds. San Antonio is their first stopping place, and that city is at a loss what to do with them. Saturday with the them. Saturday night the mayor fur-nished ransportation to twenty-six of the travelers and sent them to this city with letters to Governor Hogg, stating that as he had exhibited such a keen in-terest of late in the tramps' welfare he could give succor to the unfortunates. They will be given work on the igreat Austin dam, but this city does not want any more of them. It is feared that this State will shortly be overrun with thousands of unemployed men, as all indications point that way.

As soon as a rang of trames reach one

As soon as a gang of tramps reach one town the citizens make up a purse and ship them off to the next station. This gives the tramps a chance for a free ride through the State, and as they are fed at eating stations, they may be said to be living in clover.

Two Valuable Horses Burned.

NEW YORK, October 16.—Fire started shortly after 8 o'clock yesterday morning in a loft of one of the long row of stables in Fleetwood Park. How it originated is not known, but the flames had already burst through the roof when discovered by an employe. Many valuable horses belonging to members of the Gentlemen's Driving Club were stalled there. All the horses, with the exception of two which belonged to William L. Whitehead, were saved. These two, worth $5.000 each, were burned before they could be released. The burned building comprised fortyfour stalls, and was about three hundred feet long. The stables belonged to William H. Morris, of this city. Loss $8.000. Two stablemen were severely burned while rescuing the horses. NEW YORK, October 16.-Fire started while rescuing the horses.
